

LEARNING PATHWAYS

Simplified Learning Management

Extend the reach of your LMS content while giving learning teams, course authors, field managers, and learners the ability to create and assign courses, track progress, and measure results.

Certifications In The Flow of Work

Free structured learning and certifications from your LMS. Without missing a beat, employees can take courses (any time, any-where, on any device), get trainer sign off, and get back to work.

End-to-End Learning

Allow your learners to complete structured courses at their own pace—then let them easily and quickly search and reference their notes, and what they learned any time they want.

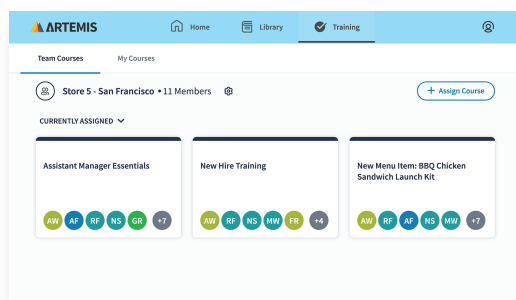

LEARNING PATHWAYS KEY FEATURES:

Learning Content Reuse And Reinforcement

Author modern learning content once and reuse the same content in multiple places including learning pathways, microlearning, and quick reference learning.

Course Management

Easily create flexible, media-rich courses with gated steps and multiple content types, including standards-based content like SCORM and AICC or external links in flexible learning pathways.

Learning Assignments

Create centralized learning groups and distribution rules for assignments across teams. HQ learning teams or managers can easily assign learning pathways to individuals and teams or learning paths can be automatically assigned.

Guided Training

From onboarding to new product rollouts, employees navigate step-by-step through their training with an easy-to-use interface that shows them exactly what they need to do and when.

Trainer Sign-off

Add the human touch to your digital learning and increase accountability across your training program by giving trainers the ability to track, verify, and certify new skills in real time.

Role-based Dashboards

Managers, employees, and your training department all have role-based views of course assignments, progress, and results by an individual team or across the organization.

INKLING LEARNING PATHWAYS

delivers certification in the flow of work with guided, multi-step training and trainer sign off.

“The LMS is no longer enough to engage the modern learner and is becoming a 'behind the curtain' administrative system. Modern Learning Platforms like Inking are providing more and more functionality to bring traditional learning content found in the LMS to the learner, instead of bringing the learner to the learning in the LMS.”
